HealtheConnections Direct Mail

HealtheConnections Direct Mail empowers users with HIPAA-compliant communication and collaborating options, such as sending and receiving referrals, for improved coordination of care. Our solution includes a Provider Directory, making it simple to find other authorized healthcare providers able to receive secure emails. A user can quickly address secure messages by selecting addressees and may include attachments in several formats. If a provider uses a different Direct or secure mail solution and it is linked to the HealtheConnections service, correspondence can also be sent by simply knowing the provider’s secure email address.

Logging In

You can access myConnections from our website https://www.healtheconnections.org or alternatively in your Internet browser at https://hie.healtheconnections.org
Logging-in to myConnections

Type your HealtheConnections Username and Password into the appropriate fields and click Log In.
A green box indicates a valid entry and a red box indicates an invalid entry or nothing entered.

If you cannot recall your password, click the Forgot Password link to begin the password recovery process. After 3 unsuccessful attempts to log-in your account will be locked.

If you do not currently have a myConnections account or have been locked out, contact HealtheConnections support at support@healtheconnections.org or 315.671.2241 x 5 for your credentials.
Click the Direct Mail badge to open your mailbox.

Searching for Providers

There are two methods to search for a providers’ direct email address (Global Provider Directory and Local Provider Directory).

Click on Provider Directory.
This will navigate you to the Provider Directory. If you wish to return to your Direct Mailbox at any time, select Webmail.

By default, the Direct Provider Directory and the HealtheConnections_HPD directory are loaded.
Global Provider Directory

The Global Provider Directory includes all available Regional Health Information Organizations (RHIOs).
The Provider Directories to Search function allows you to enter search criteria for other provider’s Secure Messaging (Direct) email addresses. This section must contain at least one RHIO when performing your search. To search additional RHIOs, put the cursor in the white box, and click. A drop-down box of additional RHIOs will appear. Click on the RHIO that you would like to search and it will appear in the list included in the Provider Directories to Search box.

The remaining search criteria options are available to narrow your search. At least one of the search criteria options must be used in conjunction with a RHIO for a search to be executed.

Search criteria options are:

- Name
- Specialty
- Location

Did you know? HPD is short for Healthcare Provider Directory.
Example: A search was performed below (criteria shown in the yellow box). The search performed was for a provider in the HealtheConnections RHIO, Buffalo RHIO, and Rochester RHIO with the last name of Maxwell (only the first three letters are required). The results show information such as the Provider's name, the directory they are in, regular email address and Direct (Secure Messaging) email address that is assigned to that particular provider.

1. Click on the email address you wish to use
2. Click Compose to launch a message composition
A new window will appear (see below), with the Direct email address listed in the ‘To’ field (orange highlight).

Note: After clicking Compose in the previous step, a new tab opens so that the Provider Directory remains available (yellow highlight).

As an alternative search option, you can search directly from the Direct Mail page.

Click on the magnifying glass icon that is labeled Providers.
In the search box that appears, enter Last Name or Organization and choose either All Directories or a specific directory you wish to search.

Click the Search button.
Results will appear below the search criteria section.

Hover your cursor over the white space area to the right of the email address. Three buttons will appear:

- To
- Cc
- Bcc

Select the appropriate button and a new screen will open where you may begin your message to that provider.

See Page 10 for Composing and Sending Messages
Local Provider Directory

Upon logging in, click on the Compose button.

In the new screen, click Local HISP Addresses and a complete list will appear of all Providers in the HealtheConnections RHIO only. Type at least 3 letters of a Provider’s name in the Search box to filter names. Double-click on the Provider’s name to whom you wish to send a message (highlighted yellow) and the Direct email address will appear in the ‘To” field of the email.

1. Click here and type at least 3 letters of the Provider’s name you are searching for

2. Double-click on the Provider’s name to whom you wish to send a message

3. Once double-clicked the email address will appear in the “To” field
Sending a Secure Message

Click on Compose, if you have not already selected a provider through a directory search method.

Enter the recipient’s direct email address in the ‘To’ field. If you do not know the recipient’s direct email address and they are in the local provider directory, the ‘To’ field will assist you in finding the address if you begin typing the recipient’s last name.

If you have already located the provider’s direct email address through either of the Provider Directories search functions, the recipient email will already be populated in the ‘To’ field of the email that is being composed.

Direct Mail can NOT be sent to non-Direct Mail addresses.
You may add additional recipients in the ‘To’ field or in the ‘Cc’ or ‘Bcc’ fields. To access the ‘Cc’ or ‘Bcc’ fields, click on the + in front of either option. Remember to separate each recipient’s direct mail address with a comma.
Enter the subject of your email in the ‘Subject’ field and begin creating your email message.

When finished composing your message, click Send.

Attaching Files

You may attach files with your direct email message by clicking on the Attach button OR on the Attach icon.
When you click on either option, two dialogue boxes will appear: The Attach a file dialogue box and a File Explorer box. If the File Explorer from your computer does not open automatically or closes, you can re-launch it by clicking on the Choose Files button.

Locate the file that you would like to attach, click on the file and click Open.

1. Select the file
2. Click Open
The file name will now show next to the Choose Files button. Click Upload. This will attach the file to your email message.

You will see that a file has been successfully attached to a message with an indicator below the Attach a file button. If you wish to remove the file before you send the message, click on the Trash icon to the right of the attached file.

When you are finished composing your email message, including any attachments, select the Send icon and your message will be securely sent to the addressee.
To view a list of sent email, click on the Sent folder on the main navigation of your webmail account.

When you are finished, click Send.

Additional Features

While all features and configuration settings are not made available in this guide, we have provided the more commonly used and / or requested features for your information.

Assigning a Delegate

Within Direct Mail, a delegate is an individual with a valid provider or staff account who is granted access to another account, which can be for a provider or organization. The delegate uses his or her own credentials to log in, and then has the means to switch over to the delegator’s account.

Delegate relationships are strictly defined and do not cascade. For example, if a provider A has delegated his account to Provider B, and Provider B has delegated his account to Provider C, those delegates may only access their own accounts and the delegator’s account. This means that Provider C has no access to Provider A’s account.
Similarly, if a provider has delegated his account to four delegates, those delegates may only access their own account and the provider’s account — they have no access to the other delegate accounts associated with that provider. Once logged in, click the down arrow next to your Direct Mail username, which is located at the top, right corner of the screen. Click on Settings.

Select Settings menu. Click on Delegation.

![Image of Settings and Delegation options]
Enter the Direct Mail Username in the Add New Delegate box and click Save. Please note that you should enter the USERNAME and NOT the direct email address.

Upon clicking Save, the screen will refresh and the Username information entered will appear under Current Delegates.
Removing a Delegate
To remove a delegate, click Revoke next to the user's information and the delegation relationship will end.

Notifications
Notifications in Direct Mail are emails that are sent to an email account outside of the Direct Mail application notifying the User that a Secure Message has been received. The default notification setting is turned on during initial configuration, meaning that you will receive notifications (similar to the email below) unless you de-activate this feature.
